

20 May | World Bee Day

As next Wednesday is World Bee Day, we'll be learning about bees every day next week. There's likely to be bee-themed crafts, songs, stories, hunts in the garden and even bee-themed PE activities! World Bee Day is celebrated every year on the birthday of Anton Janša, a pioneer of modern beekeeping. The event is designated by the United Nations to raise global awareness of the importance of these small but very important pollinators. Bees are fascinating and play an important role for all of us, helping to make sure we all have enough food. You can help bees by planting bee-friendly plants in your garden. If you are out and about over the next few days why not go on a bee hunt to see how many you can find?

NEED HELP WITH A FUSSY EATER OR POTTY TRAINING?

The BBC CBeebies website has lots of information for families with young children. As well as games and activities, there is advice for fussy eaters and ideas to help with potty training bbc.co.uk/cbeebies/earlychildhoods
